Please see the below information from the Oregon Health Authority.

The Oregon Health Authority (Authority), Public Health Division is temporarily adopting OAR 333-019-1025 requiring masks to be worn in indoor spaces in Oregon.

This temporary rule is effective August 13, 2021, through February 8, 2022.

The temporary rule is in response to the significant increase in COVID-19 cases and the significant decrease in hospital bed capacity in Oregon as a result of spread of the Delta variant.

COVID-19 undergoes frequent mutations as it replicates, which over time has resulted in variants that are more transmissible, cause more severe disease, or have other features of public health concern such as decreased vaccination effectiveness. At the time of this rule adoption, the Delta variant made up the vast majority of sequenced specimens in Oregon. The Delta variant is approximately two to three times more infectious than early wild-type COVID-19 variants. There is emerging evidence that people infected with the Delta variant have similar viral loads regardless of vaccination status suggesting that even vaccine breakthrough cases may effectively transmit this variant.

COVID-19 infection is transmitted predominately by inhalation of respiratory droplets generated when people cough, sneeze, sing, talk, or breathe. Studies show that masks and face coverings block the release of respiratory droplets into the environment and can reduce the wearer's exposure to droplets. COVID-19 viral particles spread between people more readily indoors than outdoors. In the interest of public health, individuals are required to wear a mask or face covering when in indoor spaces defined as follows:

"Indoor spaces" mean anywhere indoors, including but not limited to public and private workplaces, businesses, indoor areas open to the public, building lobbies, common or shared spaces, classrooms, elevators, bathrooms, transportation services and other indoor spaces where people gather for any purpose. An indoor space does not include a private residence, or a private automobile used for personal use that is not used for ride sharing.

and Justification and the full text of the temporary rules at the following website:
